

RELEASECharities@Work and ACCP announce speakers for employee engagement summit

Leaders from American Express, The Coca-Cola Company, Realized Worth, Do Something, Mr. Doug Pitt, and more to speak at The Summit on Employee Engagement in Corporate Citizenship

[May 10; Alexandria, VA] -- Charities@Work and ACCP today announced the newest additions to the speaker line-up for the 2017 Summit on Employee Engagement in Corporate Citizenship, "The Apex of Engagement." Held on June 29, 2017, at The Guardian Life Insurance Company of America® headquarters in New York City, the Summit brings together corporate social responsibility (CSR) practitioners from across the country to share the latest advances and thinking on employee engagement, workplace giving, and corporate citizenship.

Speakers include:

- Freya Williams, CEO, North America, Futerra
- Nancy Testa, Chief Diversity Officer, American Express
- Andrew Davis, Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer, The Coca-Cola Company
- Rhonda Mims, Chief Public Affairs Officer, WellCare Health Plans, Inc.
- Doug Pitt, Philanthropist and Business Owner
- Ed Martin, CEO, GoodX
- Aria Finger, CEO, Do Something
- Chris Jarvis, CEO, Co-founder, Realized Worth
- William Stewart, President and Founder, Povaddo
- Tony Calandro, Senior Vice President for Social Impact, Povaddo
- Matthew Nelson, CVP Corporate Responsibility, New York Life Insurance Company
- And more

Register and learn more.

The Summit on Employee Engagement in Corporate Citizenship will kick-off at 8:30 a.m. EDT on Thursday, June 29, and concludes at 4:30 p.m. EDT. The program includes a comprehensive mix of panel discussions, and interactive workshops and TED-style talks.

Charities@Work is made possible by the generous support of our sponsors. Thank you to The Guardian Life Insurance Company of America®, our 2017 summit host, and to sponsors New York Life Insurance Company and Realized Worth. For more information about sponsorship, please contact Nicole McKinney at nicole.mckinney@charity.org.

In Corporate CitizenshipABOUT Charities@Work

Charities@Work bridges the corporate and nonprofit sectors in order to achieve greater social impact. Charities@Work is an alliance of four nonprofit organizations – America’s Charities, Community Health Charities, EarthShare and Global Impact – that collectively represent more than 2,500 of the most respected and effective international, national and local nonprofits. These four networks exist to facilitate interaction and partnerships between charities, companies and their employees for meaningful outcomes and impact for all parties. For more information, visit www.charitiesatwork.org

ABOUT ACCP

Founded in 2005, ACCP is the sole membership-based organization chartered to champion the Corporate Citizenship professional. ACCP connects members to information, peers and resources and cultivates educational opportunities that promote better stewardship of corporate resources to magnify social and business impacts. For more information on ACCP, visit www.accprof.org.

Contacts:

Nicole McKinney+1 (703) 717-5262 nicole.mckinney@charity.org Global Impact

Amanda Ponzar (571) 302-9171 aponzar@healthcharities.org Community Health Charities